Abstract: The essential element administered to the sick is the sacramental service, that is, the sacrament of the penance and reconciliation, the sacrament of the anointing of the sick, Holy Communion and the celebration of Eucharist are the top-forms of care of ill-people. In these sacraments, they experience in a special way the love and closeness of God. Eucharist, which becomes a reality for all generations in the mystery of the cross and resurrection, is a special „place” of the recognition of the beneficial value of suffering and the bond of redemptive love of Christ. In offering to God on the altar, the bread and the wine symbolically expresses human suffering. The bread and wine become a power of the Eucharistic transformation of the Body and Blood of the Lord
